Asia Nakorn Ratchasima (Korat), Thailand Rex Dufour Pathiu (Chumphon), Thailand Leslie Wilson Tungfun (Udorn), Thailand Judith Painter	Songkran, April 13 Lasting 1–5 days during hottest part of year. Songkran is a Thai word meaning “to move” or “change place.” It is the day when the sun changes its position in the zodiac. Loi Krathong mid-April	People perform a bathing rite for Buddha images and monks. Songkran is a water festival in which everyone is soaked and often topped with baby powder and tapioca. In northern Thailand, it is said that people used to soak a caged cat to bring on the monsoon rains. Cares, worries, bad karma, etc., are symbolically floated away on a small candle-lit raft (or krathong) set on the closest body of water	People believe that water will wash away bad luck. Family members pour scented water on hands of elders to show respect. Water carries or washes away troubles and bad deeds; water cleanses	Rain dance of Native Americans; baptisms; christenings Baptisms. Also similar to Jewish holiday following Yom Kippur, in which bread is cast into water as a way of casting off sins of past.
Europe Hrazdan, Armenia Rich Bartell	Vartevor “Rose Day” July, on a Sunday	Stems from an old pagan celebration. People playfully douse each other, busses, and automobiles with water; especially enjoyed by children.	Water is used in a playful, prankish way during a hot time of the year.	Halloween Semana Santa Ashora
Europe Marijampole, Lithuania Lisa Burrowes	Jonines “The Feast of St. John’s Day” Merry-making actually begins the night of June 23, the longest night of the year, preceding St. John’s Day, June 24.	Folk tradition celebration of nature’s forces on the longest day of the year. People dress in national costumes; young maidens send flower wreaths downstream; a burning wheel is erected on a hill; other look in the forest for the mythical fern which blooms only mid-summer eve; many drink and sing all night.	Water predicts future; carries hopes and dreams of young girls. The farther a wreath floats, the sooner a girl will marry. If a wreath gets stuck, it does not mean she won’t marry. Washing your face in the morning dew makes the young more beautiful and the old more youthful.	Solstice
