This water pipe is used for pumping water from the Volta River to the town of Adidome, where people then fetch water from standpipes. The Volta River is downstream from the dam that created the largest manmade lake in the world. Damming the river has damaged the river ecology; however, the dam is used for generating electricity in the area.

Primary school students wash the cups, basins, tubs, and other items that will be used for drinking and hand-washing this day. Every student brings water to school each day. Some of it is put in large cans for drinking. There is generally one cup per can, so many people drink from the same cup. The water from home is also used for hand-washing, scrubbing, and other activities.
